1969 . . .

FOREWORD

1969 . . . a year of change. Sacrificing traditions and setting precedents for new traditions. It was a year of happening — both in our small community and in the larger world. There was the war in Viet Nam . . . inflation . . . demonstrations in Chicago . . . a second Kennedy assassination . . . Biafra . . . Apollo X . . . the Yippies . . . Richard Nixon. On the campus we were challenged with the 4-1-4 . . . black power . . . financial crisis . . . moral and disciplinary evaluation . . . smoking in designated campus areas.

1969 . . . a year like all others and yet different in many ways. Student registration was made easier (?) with IBM . . . student employees wage raise . . . no junior-senior banquet . . . the little "500" . . . fire in Mem Hall . . . the food service . . . campus radio . . . popular music in the dining hall . . . film passes . . . History of Black America . . . ACCK.

1969 . . . some things refuse to change and remain a part of us forever. Leap weekends . . . intramurals . . . engagements . . . chapel . . . senior orals . . . coffee dates . . . dancing . . . daily announcements . . . readings days . . . the campus cop.

THE TENDER LAND

by Aaron Copland

Arlo Kasper and Sam Nance discuss lights for the opera.

Warren Kliever, Wichita State writer and oral interpreter, engaged in interpretation of his own work.

Under the supervision of Arlo Kasper, instructor of the Play Production and Direction class, five students presented one-act plays.

The first play given was Edna St. Vincent Millay's Aria de Capo, directed by Camille Gross. The cast included Carolyn Cox and Gerald Liberti, both pictured at right; also Larry Sadowski, Jack Goering, and Mark Stucky.

Jack Goering presented "Little Brother, Little Sister," with Jeanette Goering, Jim Leisy, and Tim Rupp. It was about a family in a fallout shelter.

An original play was also presented. Shawkat Hasan, freshman from Jordan, wrote "A Cup of Coffee," which concerns Americans, and Mennonites in particular. The cast included Rocky Nickel, Janet Reimer, Warren Banman, JoAnn Swarzendruber, and Cornelia Krahn.

Judi Janzen and Bob Clack starred in "Tiger", by Snisgal and directed by Larry Sadowski.

The last play given was "The Day of Absence", by Douglas Turner. Roberta Ingram directed the all-black cast composed of Henry Jones, Charles Black, Sharon Veazey, Lucille Robinson, Doris Wilson, Francis Carter, Karetha Bowens, Brenda Cruel, Gloria Moore, Dwight Cox, Marvin Johnson, Jerald Prince, Art Clark, and white narrator, Don Schrag.

Remember the fire?

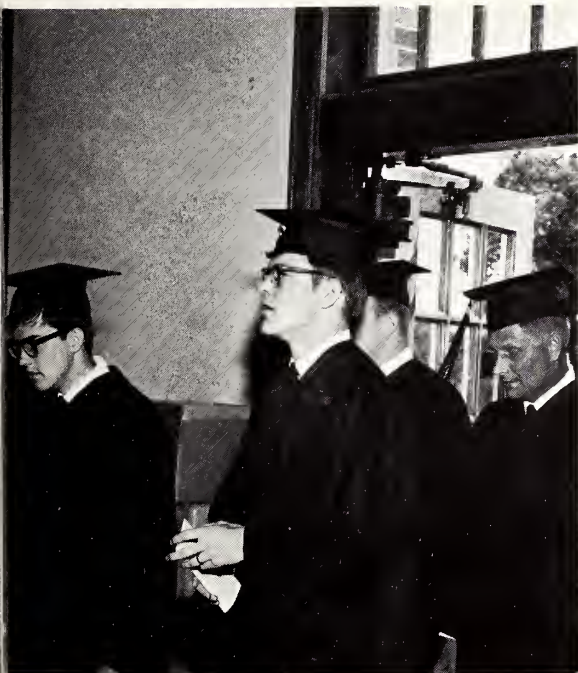

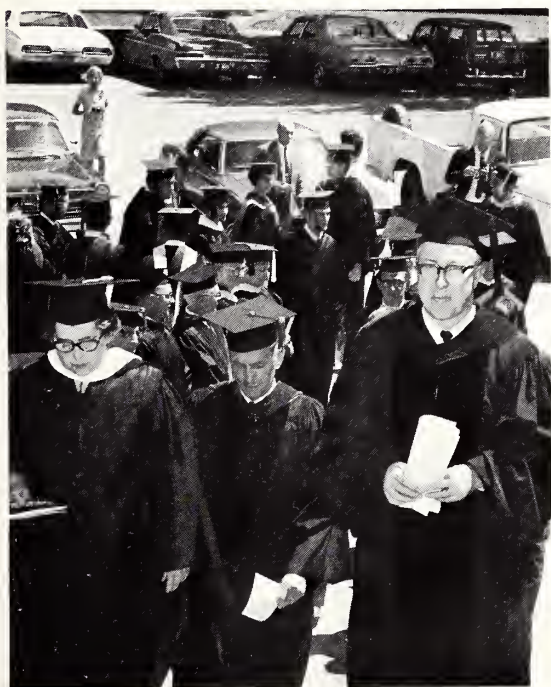

It is indeed an achievement to receive Bethel College's Order of the Golden A recognition.

Thresher Awards are presented each year to outstanding students in the fields of music, industrial arts, drama, history, and English.

The 1968 Thresher football team was led by team Captains Wade Brubacher and George Rogers and the "rocking chair" chant. The team improved upon its 1967 season mark with a 3-6 record, good for a seventh place finish. However, the final standings don't accurately indicate the strength of this year's fighting Threshers. The team showed prowess in losing close exciting ballgames to Sterling, College of Emporia, Friends and Southwestern. In fact it led Southwestern, the conference champs, until the final four minutes of the game when Southwestern came back to win.

The season was capped with the naming of senior Dennis "Moby" Dueck as All-Conference Punter and senior Wade Brubacher and sophomore standout Darrell Ediger as Honourable Mention selections.

BASKETBALL

The 1968—1969 Bethel College basketball team completed another fine season with a 15-7 overall record. A highly respectable 13-7 conference record ranked them third in league standings. The Bethel squad also captured first place in the annual Mennonite Classic, held this year at Moundridge, Kansas. Capping the successful season were the selections of Stuart Friesen, left, and Darrell Ediger, right, to the K.C.A.C. All-Conference Team.

GOLF

The Bethel College golf team ended an active season with an eleventh place finish at the KCAC golf meet. Team members Ted Koontz, Perry Krehbiel, Jim Wedel, Paul Mullet, Rod Nikkel, Mike Brubacher, and Dave Quiring were led by ex-player and coach Ron Dietzel. The season included a 10 1/2 to 4 1/2 dual meet victory over McPherson College.

TENNIS

The 1969 Bethel tennis team posted one of the best records in recent years, ending the season with a third place finish at the KCAC tournament. Steve Balzer, No. 1 man, right, was victorious in the top singles bracket. During the season, Balzer, again placing first in singles, led Bethel to a second place finish at the ACCK tournament. Graduating senior Dave Janzen finished the season with a flair, placing second in the No. 4 singles bracket at the KCAC tournament.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Members: Daryl Nickel
 Dale Schrag
 Jack Goering, secretary
 Richard Walker, treasurer
 Ilene Ediger
 C. Jan Carpenter
 Star Gipson
 Richard Friesen, president
 Milton Goering, Dean of Students
 Emerson Wiens, faculty.

The Student Council consists of twelve students, three elected from each class. The Dean of Students and a faculty member are ex officio members. The Council represents the student body as the principle agency of student government. It appoints the student members of various committees, maintains campus traditions, supervises all extra-curricular activities (through the Student Activities Board), and encourages school spirit.

Despite financial hangups in 1969, Richard Friesen led student government through a year of definite progress and change. As second-year leader of Stuco, Richard spent the preceding summer in planning and making contacts for his last year at Bethel College. He had committees such as initiation and student guide at work even before the actual school term began the last week in August.

One of the major innovations this school year was the organization of a Student Activities Board (SAB). This group was headed by Paul Schrag with Amanda Friesen acting as club coordinator. The new commission took charge of many of the student life activities on the Bethel campus. Recreation Council was split into a film committee, dance and hootenanny board, and a small groups committee. The major purpose of SAB was to make available calendars and schedules so that clubs and other groups of students planning activities could coordinate them and avoid conflicts and "pile-ups" of events during certain weekends.

Other projects the Student Council worked on this year in an effort to improve student government included the aims of financial autonomy for Stuco, representatives on faculty and administrative committees, and student rights regarding due process.

Bethel College and her representatives were not only merely active on the home campus. Richard Friesen lead the FSACCK in preparations for greater communication and cooperation for the future of the six ACCK schools. Star Gipson served as secretary of this organization. The activities planned by this group included a leadership conference at Bethel, a suggested interterm course for student body leaders, newspaper and journalism workshops, comparisons of campus activities, weekly telephone conferences among student government leaders, and an increased budget for next year.

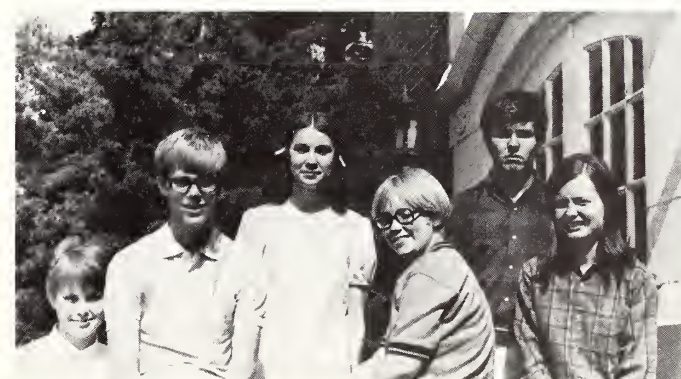

JOURNALISM

The Thresher Staff pictured on these pages make the annual yearbook available to the students. This year's editors were Barbara Gingrich and Iris Unruh. Staff members included Ann Schmidt, John Delay, Mike Graber, Roberta Voth, Gail Unruh, and photographers Lonnie Goering and Jim Reimer. Simon Schmidt, Goessel, provided individual pictures and commencement pictures. Numerous other students are to be thanked for their donations to this book. Having gotten a late start, the staff members worked late into summer preparing the 1969 Thresher and hopefully adding some original features in order to make it more enjoyable and worthwhile for the student.

The Collegian Staff not pictured here is the branch of campus journalism responsible for the publication of the college newspaper. It is issued bi-weekly by a staff of dedicated and hardworking students.

CAMPUS SERVICES

This school year the library added 1500 books to its shelves. The ACKK courier system also assisted students by making books available from any one of the associated colleges. A new system for the card catalog and added bookshelves were among the improvements.

Louise Koehn, Reference Librarian. BELOW: Martha Smith, Assistant Librarian.

Leona Krehbiel, Head Librarian.
Cornelius Krahn, Historical Library.

John F. Schmidt, Director of Historical Library.
Doug Friesen, Student Employment Director.

Barbara Warkentine, Bookstore Manager.

RESIDENT DIRECTORS

Ted and Karen Dreier were directors of Warkentin Court and enjoyed the experience of living in such an environment.

With 150 girls living in Haury Hall this year, Arlo and Kathy Kasper were kept quite busy.

Not only did they have to watch over the boys living in Goering Hall, but Don and Mary Wilhelm discovered that they needed to watch out for the girls, too.

STAFF

Delia Graber, Academic Dean's Secretary.

Mary Seward, Dean of Student's Secretary

Bonnie Goering, President's Secretary.

Registrar's Secretaries: STANDING: Martha Schroeder, Ina Bartel. SEATED: Eileen Goerzen.

The Business Office is staffed by Carolyn Stucky, Glenda Schmidt, and Mary Klingenberg. They handle the "bill-paying" part of registration as well as the student payroll, payment of loans and grants, and the regular expenses of the college in general.

Kaye Lehrman, Selma Unruh, Monica Gross, and Ilene Schmidt (not pictured) do the clerical and stenographic work for the Admissions Office, Alumni and Church Relations Office, News Service, and Development Office. The secretarial pool and duplicating machines are found in their headquarters.

Bennie Bargaen keeps track of former Bethel students in his Mailing List files.

The Teacher Education and Teacher Placement Offices are assisted by Secretary Colleen Stagner. These offices are essential for the student who is majoring in education and trying to get a teaching certificate.

This year the meals in the dining hall were prepared under the direction of Jack Kille of Slater Food Service. He was assisted in this task by Maxine Will.

Cooks: Elsie Harms, Elsie Mitchell, Ethel Sharbonno, Lena Veendorp, Luise Schmidt, and Mary Franz. Not pictured: Ann Friesen, Edna Friesen, Melva Friesen, Marie Schmidt.

Maintenance: (STANDING) Leland Jantz, Henry Tangeman, Agnes Jantz, Ed L. Claassen, C. C. Kiewer, Henry Friesen, Allen Unruh, Armand Frey. (SEATED) Margaret Unrau, Rahlen Unrau. Not pictured: Irwin Friesen, Carl Gerhart, Wilbert Reimer.
